Weather Situation

A strong high pressure system centred over Victoria will maintain a ridge across SA as it drifts slowly over NSW from Friday. A cold front will then approach from the west late Saturday and move across SA on Sunday, before another ridge pushes in behind the front. The associated high will then move eastwards across waters south from Monday.

Forecast for the rest of Thursday 17 September

Dry. Southeast to northeasterly winds.

Forecast for Friday 18 September

Cold at first with patchy frost in parts of the east. Dry and mostly sunny day. Maximum temperatures above average. Northeast to northwesterly winds, tending east to southeasterly at times in the northeast.

Forecast for Saturday 19 September

Dry and mostly sunny day. Maximum temperatures above average. Northeast to northwesterly winds ahead of a west to southwesterly change from the southwest overnight. Winds freshening in the far west during the afternoon and about coastal areas overnight.

Forecast for Sunday 20 September

Isolated showers about the Southern Agricultural Area from the afternoon. Slight chance of an isolated thunderstorm in the far northwest later. Maximum temperatures above average. North to northwesterly winds, fresh and gusty during the afternoon, ahead of a west to southwesterly change extending across the state throughout the day. Fresh and gusty winds also about coastal areas, easing from the west and tending southwest to southeasterly throughout from the evening.

Forecast for Monday 21 September

Chance of an isolated morning shower about the Agricultural Areas, and a slight chance of an isolated thunderstorm in the far northwest later. Maximum temperatures below average, tending above average in northern parts. South to southeasterly winds, fresh in the northeast during the afternoon. Cumulative rainfall totals to the end of Sunday: less than 1 to 2 mm about the Southern Agricultural Area.

The next routine forecast will be issued at 4:00 am CST Friday.
